

I am opposed to relaxing the rules for cell phone usage aboard airborne aircraft. I believe it will be very disruptive, distracting and annoying considering the amount of unnecessary conversation. I frequently fly for business on long and short flights and have found little reason to need to use a cell phone while in flight.